

What to Do if the Person We Support Needs Urgent Help

Use this procedure if you arrive for support and you can see the person we support needs urgent help. For supporting guidance see LWB NDIS 5141 Person We Support Goes Missing – Practice Guide.

All Disability Support Workers should have a current First Aid Certificate. Please assist in line with your First Aid Certificate.

The Disability Support Worker will:

Phone 000 (triple 0) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Call 000 straight away and ask for an ambulance.</li> <li>• Listen to emergency services and do what they tell you to do.</li> <li>• If you can reach the person and it is safe to do so, provide first aid as you wait for emergency services to arrive.</li> </ul>
Emergency Services 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Give the ambulance officer any information about the person that may be helpful. This may include the person's age, any medical conditions or medication if known, as well as any special support needs relating to their disability.</li> <li>• If the ambulance is taking the person to the hospital,             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- ask them what hospital they are taking the person to.</li> <li>- give the Ambulance Officer a copy of the person's completed NDIS LWB 5561 Hospital Support Plan.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Contact 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Once the person is safe and emergency services have taken over, you should immediately call the Disability Support Leader<sup>1</sup> (DSL) or On-Call to explain the situation.
